

Activating SMS on your account

Mobile carriers now require businesses to register their brand and SMS use cases before numbers can be enabled to send SMS. This is an industry-wide requirement, and applies to all non-mobile originating business SMS regardless of how the business will be using SMS.

Here's what you need to know about enabling SMS your account:

Registration is mandatory

All businesses must register their brand and SMS use case to send messages from or to US numbers. Please take time to review all required information and plan any needed changes to avoid rejection.
