

'Tis the season to work from anywhere

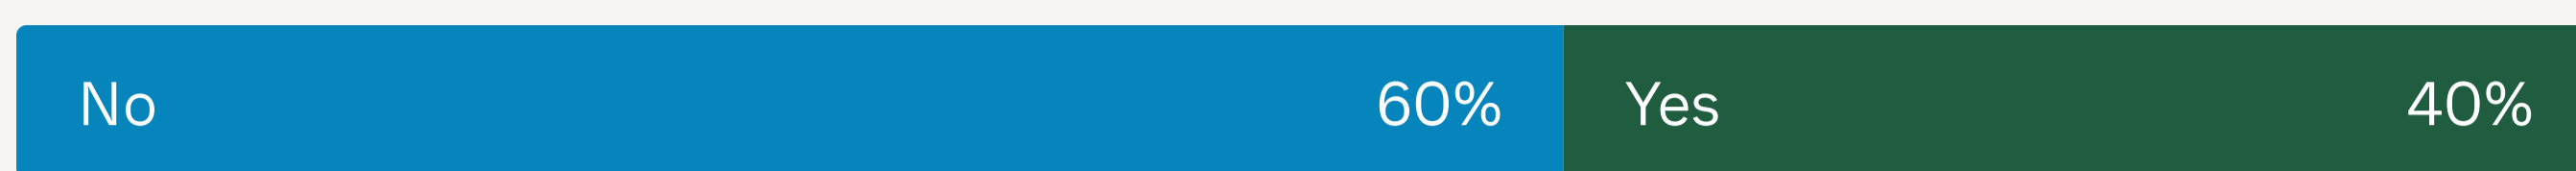

From '20 to '21, the world turned upside down. Our home became our office, our school, and so much more. As 2022 approaches, some will head back to the office—some will work from home.

All of a sudden, it's a hybrid world

Would you rather work from home or the office?

Do you feel isolated working from home?

Do you feel just as connected over voice/video call?

Meanwhile...

8 of 10

feel employers create safe offices

But...

5 of 10

feel anxious meeting coworkers in person

And...

7 of 10

want coworkers vaccinated

How has the pandemic changed us?

Employees are 2x as happy vs pre-pandemic.

57% feel more empathetic towards people overall

68% rely more on collaboration tools than they did pre-pandemic

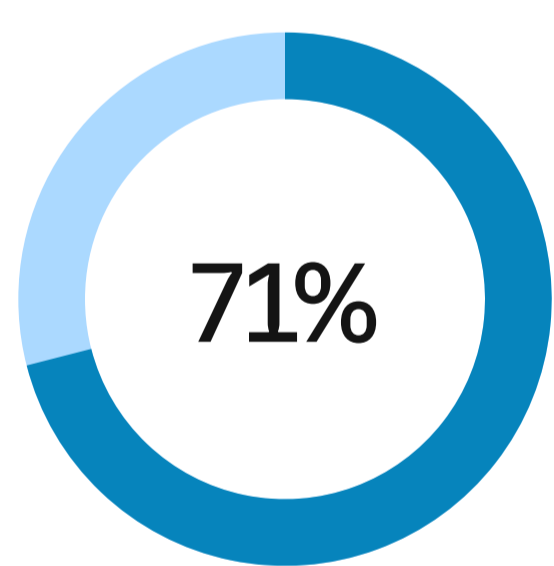

64% of decision makers prefer no travel for conferences/trade shows

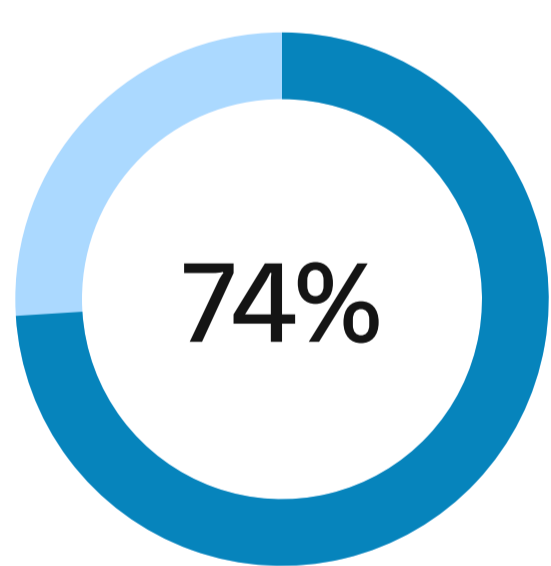

Parents are also twice as happy now vs pre-pandemic

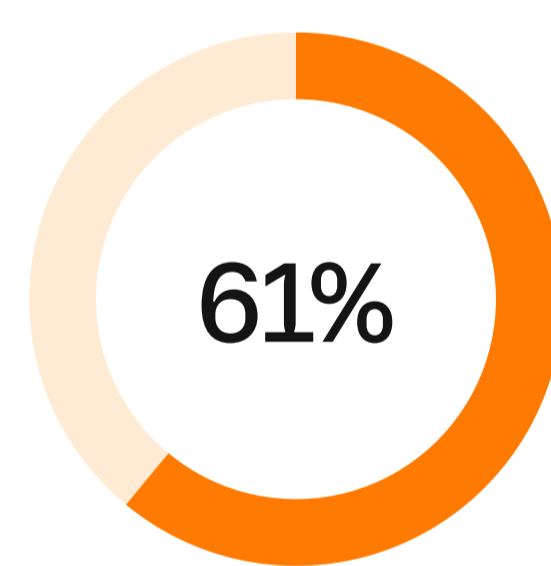

Mindsets are a-changing

believe the way we connect changed forever

say the meaning of "connection" changed forever

believe we'll return to pre-pandemic norms

The verdict: remote rules

Voice calls help colleagues stay as connected as ever.

62% say voice calls are just as effective as in-person meetings

78% say voice makes us more connected overall

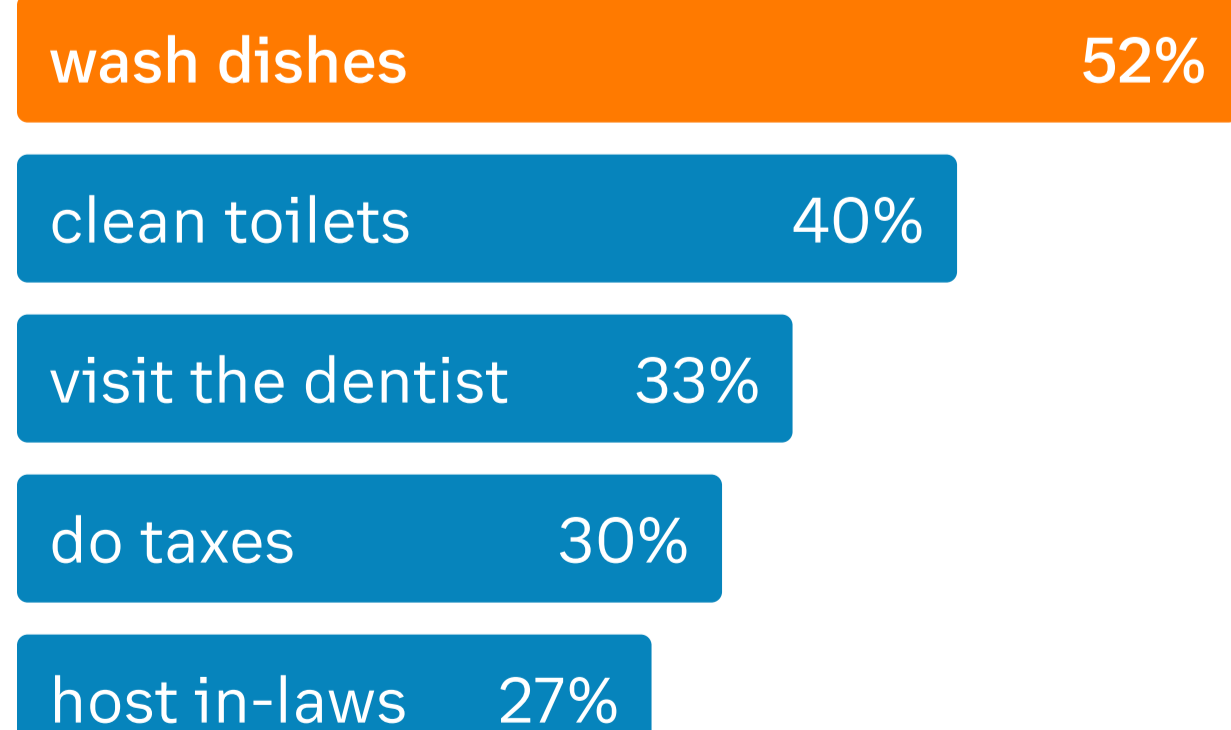

3 of 4 decision makers feel phone calls create stronger work relationships

Over half of decision makers prefer connecting with colleagues via phone

Bottom line: Employees are saying...

"I'd rather...

than commute to the office."
